

The major requires 30 credits.

Students will study the fundamental educational questions arising during this moment of social and educational transformation; reflect on the direction and purposes of their own education; and contribute to improving the quality of human experience and to making society more just.

The major is designed for students who are interested

-
-
-
-